68th Congress of the Guild of Carillonneurs in North America to Convene in Naperville, Illinois

by Wylie Crawford

The Millennium Carillon Foundation invites you to the 68th Congress of the Guild of Carillonneurs in North America, to be held Monday, June 14, through Thursday, June 17, 2010, in Naperville, Ill., with registration and opening festivities on Sunday afternoon and evening. (For those of you who might be interested, a Women’s Triathalon event will be held in this same area on Saturday, June 12, and will end at 1:00 p.m. on Sunday, June 13.)

Naperville is a city of 140,000 residents located off Interstate 88, just 28 miles (45 km) west of downtown Chicago. The city is serviced by Burlington North (Metra) and Amtrak trains. It is a family-friendly city, the oldest in DuPage County, and it was voted one of the three best places to live by Money magazine. More information about Naperville can be found at http://www.visitnaperville.com.

The host carillon is a 72-bell Eijsbouts instrument, funded by the citizens of Naperville. Beside it is a newly renovated visitor center, which will be your registration location. Both are at the foot of Rotary Hill, just off Aurora Avenue. Ample parking is available at the Centennial Beach lot, at Jackson Avenue and West Street.

Presentations

The theme of this year’s Congress is “The Carillon with Other Instruments.” In keeping with this theme, recitals and presentations will include music for carillon with orchestra, with percussion, and with calliope! In addition to guest recitals and master classes by world-renowned carillonneurs, planned presentations will include “Physical Aspects of Carillon Performance,” a “Carillon with Other Instruments” panel discussion, “Copyright Issues for Web-Published Works,” “The Music of LaSalle Spier,” “Building a Practice Keyboard,” “The Creation of the Naperville Millennium Carillon,” “The Renovation of the Rockefeller Chapel Carillon,” and “Editing and Publishing Web Recordings.”

Growth

By now you should have had an opportunity to review the analysis and findings of our ad hoc exam survey. I continue to be impressed by the depth and breadth of the debate and thoroughness of the survey and recommendations. I offer congratulations to Pat Macoska for leading this important growth initiative, and to John Gouwens for developing the online survey and tabulation of results. The committee also deserves kudos for presenting their diverse perspectives, as they were chosen to give their respective viewpoints in relative balance to the entire membership. Many new tools were used to deploy this survey—technological growth in addition to substantive development.

The membership has spoken and provided their opinions for how this most important element of our organization should grow. Results and recommendations will continue to be the primary subject of our debate, with direction for our future professional growth to be decided at the congress in Naperville, Ill. Your continued input and support are necessary to sustain this newest effort. Inherent in the proposal for a new entry-level accreditation is an element of growth. With this proposed initial level, there is an opportunity for development—incremental development and growth.

And growth is also reflected in each of our organization’s goals:
- The development of proficient carillonneurs
- Improvement in the quality and availability of carillon music
- Encouragement of new carillons
- Improvement of existing carillon installations
- The general advancement of the art of the carillon in North America

Growth often results from pain. We were saddened by the passing of one of our most dedicated supporters and honorary members. Sally Slade Warner still manages to support us and encourage us to grow. The board will be deliberating on how to best direct her unstipulated and unprecedented bequest—$132,000.

T he Nominating Committee presents five GCNA members as candidates for three (3) positions on the Board of Directors for a term of three (3) years each. The election will take place at the 2010 Congress in Naperville, Ill. Ballots will be mailed to voting members around May 1, 2010, and will be available at the congress.

Each nominee was asked to provide his/her answers to the same questions regarding carillon work/interest; length of time in the GCNA; attendance at Congresses; activities relating to the carillon, major field of work; previous board involvement; if applicable, GCNA committee work; and what each would hope to contribute as a board member if elected. The information about each nominee appears below.

Since each candidate is a Carillonneur member, each has attended Congresses regularly, and those who hold a carillon position do the usual functions for a carillon position—playing regularly; planning summer series; being responsible for budgets, maintenance, and giving tower tours—that information is not repeated for each one. Each candidate’s position is indicated.

The nominations committee consists of Beverly Buchanan, William De Turk, Sharon Hettinger, and Sue Jones.

Vision for the GCNA and expectations as a board member, if elected:

As a relatively new Carillonneur member of the Guild, I feel I can provide a fresh perspective on what challenges are faced by someone wanting to learn how to play the carillon. I also have a lot of experience being a student, having just earned an MLS (Master of Library Science) from the University of Illinois at the end of 2008. The librarian side of me would like to see the Guild put an emphasis on providing educational activities—strategies and guidance for the young and young-at-heart desiring to play the carillon, but also programs and information to provide life-long learning opportunities for all levels of musicians and bell enthusiasts. We members of the GCNA are a small group of people with a passion for carillons. Let’s concentrate on sharing our passion and skills with our fellow guild members and the public.

Sue Bergren

Carillonneur member; GCNA member since 2003; attends congresses regularly; has not served on board.

Activities relating to the carillon:
Assistant Carillonneur at the Millennium Carillon, Naperville, Ill.
Weekly recitalist at the University of Chicago.
Guest recitalist at Springfield International Festival and carillons in several states.
Owner and music editor for ACME (American Carillon Music Editions)

Major field of work:
Music (organ, piano, carillon)
Has served as music director in Naperville area churches for past 20 years, now free lances.
Accompanies young instrumentalists for contests and recitals.

GCNA committee/activities involvement:
Current co-editor of Carillon News, issuing two issues each year

John Bordley

Carillonneur member; GCNA member since 2002; attends congresses regularly; has not served on board.

Activities relating to the carillon:
Carillonneur at the Leonidas Polk Carillon, University of the South, Sewanee, Tenn.
Diploma from the Royal Carillon School in Belgium, 2004
Major field of work:
Professor of chemistry at the University of the South

GCNA committee/activities involvement:
Current member of the Barnes Scholarship Committee
Hosted the 2007 Congress at Sewanee

Vision for the GCNA and expectations as a board member, if elected:
I would like the Guild to move into the 21st century with an inclusive approach to carillonneurs of varying interests and abilities. I would hope that by 2011, following discussion by the board and the Guild as a whole, a new advancement process could be in place. I am open to all ideas about the details, but I think we need at least two levels of recognition of playing performance. I hope that we can move to a system that would result in most people who perform a concert at a congress being advanced to the level they are striving for, i.e., an occasional failure might happen but it would not be common.

I think we should strive to make all newcomers welcome, particularly those who attend a congress. All congress attendees should go out of their way to greet newcomers and make them feel part of the crowd. One small item that would really aid this mixing of longtime and new members would be to have as many opportunities as possible for group meals. The situation at the Sewanee congress was very good in this regard; I think that all attendees thought they could sit at any table and meet new people. When there are too many “meals on your own,” no matter how many nice restaurants may be in the area, if you don’t have anyone to eat with, the experience is a letdown.

As a board member, one of my goals would be to get as many people as possible involved with the various committees. The committees should then meet at the congresses and incorporate newcomers in the deliberations. The goal, as just mentioned, would be to get newer members involved in the work of the Guild by working with seasoned members.

Carillonneur member; GCNA member 16 years; served two terms on board, 1999–2005.

Activities relating to the carillon:
Carillonneur, House of Hope Presbyterian Church, St. Paul, Minn.

Major field of work: History

GCNA committee/activities involvement:
Current Recording Secretary
Current compiler of Summer Recital Calendar
Current co-chair of Ronald Barnes Scholarship Committee
Current member of Bulletin Committee
Current chair of Web page and Internet Committee

Vision for the GCNA and expectations as a board member, if elected:
I envision an organization that has actively chosen to move beyond the habits, comforts, and legalisms that currently define and determine much that we do. We often limit and strangle our creativity, deferring—whether actively or passively—to failure of imagination. I think it’s possible to embrace and endorse aspects of the status quo that we agree are timeless both in concept and utility while doing whatever it takes to broaden the Guild’s appeal. At minimum, we need to take some initial risks in order to begin determining whether we can be more than we are. Individual members’ views obviously vary, but collectively we are too exclusive, too self-important, too academic in appearance if not reality and sometimes seem not to care about the sensitivities of many of our own members, let alone the world beyond our self-proclaimed and carefully defended boundaries. Many within our number are already part of the enhanced demographic that I envision. These faithful people don’t play the instrument and don’t want to but are nonetheless devoted to it. Many of them have urged the Guild to become less insular, more exciting, and more fun. Indeed, most of my sentiments are very much alive and well throughout the organization.

I certainly believe in faithful adherence to the goals, stated in the Articles of Incorporation, of providing educational activities appropriate to the encouragement of performance proficiency, more and better carillon music, intelligent planning and construction of new instruments, and the advancement of “the art, the literature, and the science of the carillon in North America.”

On the other hand, I think we need to be more inclusive in how we look to our own members for leadership, irrespective of age or station. We should try radically to broaden and diversify the Guild’s membership, thereby potentially increasing the size of that long-stagnant number significantly. We need to stop our tedious, repetitive, territorial, unprofessional, and unnecessary wrangling over internal issues that are hardly cosmic, despite the appearances we assign them. And if in the process we discover that we need to revise the Articles or Bylaws to keep everything legal while embracing new options, so be it.

Failure of imagination and lack of courage have no productive role in the Guild’s future. I think it’s possible for us to become something considerably more than we are without for a moment becoming less.

Tim Sleep

Carillonneur member; GCNA member eight years; attends congresses regularly; has not served on board.

Activities relating to the carillon:
City Carillonneur, Millennium Carillon, Naperville, Ill.

Major field of work:
Retired middle school principal

GCNA committee/activities involvement:
Current Corresponding Secretary
Current member of Roster Committee
Member of Planning Committee for 2010 Congress

Vision for the GCNA and expectations as a board member, if elected:
The Guild should function as the public face of, and advocate for, traditional carillons of all sizes. It should also work to foster the development and continued growth of competent carillonneurs at all skill levels, develop a continually improving body of performance and teaching literature, and provide a clearing house for information about all aspects of the instrument, all while providing resources and mentoring for the membership.

Currently, there are very important issues facing the GCNA. I would use my administrative and music performance experience and attention to detail to help facilitate the resolution of these issues and work toward the advancement of the Guild.

Carl Zimmerman

Carillonneur member; GCNA member since 1961; has attended congresses regularly during that time; served two terms on board, but not consecutively; current board member of one-term duration

Activities relating to the carillon:
Retired from carillon playing
Member WCF Executive Committee & treasurer

Major field of work:
Retired mathematician, Air Force meteorologist, and computer systems analyst

GCNA committee/activities involvement:
GCNA Board of Directors–Completing first term
Current GCNA Webmaster
Current member of Internet Committee

Vision for the GCNA and expectations as a board member, if elected:
The Guild is, and must remain, the professional organization for the carillonneurs of North America. However, because of the peculiarities of our instrument, that professionalism must continue to incorporate much more than just musicianship. We need the active involvement of many people with varied skills in order to move toward the goals that we have chosen. But we need to manage that involvement carefully to avoid becoming merely a social organization based on a common interest. Professionalism values everyone’s contributions.

As a board member, I lend several assets to policy discussions. Among them are a commitment to the welfare and goals of the Guild, a generalist’s eye for the big picture combined with a proofreader’s eye for details, an analytical mind, and precision in the use of language. I help to clarify fuzzy thinking, work out long-term implications of proposals, and find practical compromises. My long-standing membership in the Guild and my involvement in WCF meetings provide helpful perspectives on what works (or doesn’t) and what will (or won’t) benefit our guild.

Bylaws Committee Asks

True or False?

The GCNA bylaws are only for members of the board.
False: Every member should have a copy and be familiar with the bylaws. Currently, a copy can be found on the GCNA website under “The Guild” and then “Code of Ethics & Bylaws.”

The GCNA bylaws are only meant to be suggestions.
False: The GCNA bylaws have been voted on by the membership and are meant to be binding. Roberts Rules of Order Newly Revised contains a set of well-developed rules that civilized people can use to make wise group decisions.

The membership should elect someone to fill the vacancy created by Jim Smith on the board of directors.
False: The board appoints someone to finish the unfilled term of any vacancy created by a death or resignation (§4.5, p. 8).

When a person is appointed to fill a vacancy, the term can be extended.
False: The appointee can only fill the term until the normal expiration date (§4.5, p. 8).

Three candidates are elected each year for the board of directors.
True: There are a total of nine directors, divided into three classes of three members each, with one class elected each year (§3.1, p. 7).

Two issues of the Bulletin were printed and distributed to members: Vol. IV, No. 2, May 1950; and Vol. V, No. 1, December 1950.

The Executive Committee met two times during the year at Riverside Church, New York City, in February 1950 and again in November 1950. A membership classification, to be known as an Associate Member, was discussed and approved. It would be non-voting.

The 1950 congress was held at Albany City Hall, Albany, N.Y. Officers elected at the 1950 congress for the 1950–51 year:
President: Robert Donnell
Vice President: Harvey Spencer
Secretary-Treasurer: Melvin Corbett
Archivist: Herman Dreher

The recitalists were Albert Branch, Melvin Corbett, Robert Donnell, Herman Dreher, Robert Kleinschmidt, Robert McKee, Remy Muller, Roland Pomerat, Percival Price, Theophil Rusterholz, Floyd Walter and Ray Wingate. There were no examination recitals.

The entire group visited the graves of Colonel and Mrs. William Gorham Rice at the Alfred Rural Cemetery and paid their respects to the memory of the first promoter of carillon art on this continent. A wreath was placed on the grave. The unique Rice monument is a frame supporting two bells, one by Taylor, the other by Gillett & Johnston.

William Gorham Rice Jr., son of the late William Gorham Rice, was awarded an Honorary Membership from the GCNA.

The May 1950 Bulletin has a 22 page article contributed by Percival Price about the carillon music of Joannes De Gruytters, analyzing many of the selections individually and the collection as a whole. It ends with a reminder that “the greatest music is that which says most with the least sound.”
The Carillon in Wellington, New Zealand

by Margo Halsted

Author’s note: This article was inspired by the author’s trip to New Zealand last December and her opportunity to present a recital on the only carillon in New Zealand, located in Wellington’s National War Memorial Tower. National Carillonist Timothy Hurd was away in Europe during the visit. Most of the information about the carillon and its history comes from the 1998 New Zealand Department of Internal Affairs publication For Whom the Bells Toll by Chris Maclean. In Great Britain, Australia, and New Zealand, “carillon” is pronounced ca-RIL-yen and the performer is a ca-RIL-yen-ist.

New Zealand sent 99,500 soldiers off to war during World War I, a tremendous number for a small country, a number just about ten percent of the entire population. A total of 16,697 didn’t return, and many thousands more returned with injuries. The government of New Zealand studied quite a few ideas for a national war memorial and finally decided on a high tower and a carillon. The building was to be visible from the city and the harbor. Mt. Cook, a hill in Wellington, was chosen for the site. Since the memorial was to be located away from the city center, the city fathers planned to connect the two with a broad street.

The Wellington Memorial Carillon Society, a citizen’s committee, managed in 1926 a successful appeal to pay for the carillon bells. Even though the tower had not yet been approved or funded, 49 bells were ordered from Gillett & Johnston, four octaves of bells that transposed down one step. The bell company temporally installed the carillon in Newcastle-on-Tyne and London’s Hyde Park in 1931 before shipping it to Wellington. With thousands of listeners present, Englishman Clifford Ball and Wellington musician Gladys Watkins played the dedication program on April 25, 1932. Watkins served as carillonneur for only four years before retiring because of poor health. Her student John Randal, a local organist and choirmaster, continued to play and also to create punched rolls for the instrument’s automatic play system. Randal played from 1937 to 1950 and again from 1954 to 1983. New Zealander Selwyn Baker played from 1950 to 1954. (Ball, Watkins, and Baker received diplomas “with distinction” from the Belgian Carillon School in 1926, 1930, and 1949, respectively.)

In 1936 the National Art Gallery and Museum Building, located behind the carillon tower, was dedicated, another drawing point for residents and visitors.

In 1985, American Timothy Hurd was appointed National Carillonist. Over the next ten years, Hurd accomplished the amazing feats of getting the government and other donors to renovate the instrument as well as to add 16 treble bells (Taylor, 1986) and four very large bass bells (Eijsbouts, 1995). Hurd himself donated five treble bells cast by Whitechapel. The tower now boasts a carillon of six octaves, 74 bells, with a bourdon sounding a low E-flat (keyboard notation F, weighing just under 14 tons). The first semitone bell is omitted. Hurd has a full-time carillon position that includes performing six days a week. He received the Artist’s diploma with highest distinction from the Netherlands Carillon School in 1980, the Prix d’Excellence in performance by the Netherlands government in 1981, and the Queen’s Service Medal (QSM) by the New Zealand government in 1994.

Playing a recital on this giant carillon was really fun, and the available low pedal notes reminded me of the University of Michigan’s Burton Tower carillon. After I played the New Zealand National Anthem, the rest of my recital consisted of all American music, hopefully most of it familiar to New Zealanders. A good sound system helps the performer to hear the four large bells installed far below the cabin. All during the playing I could hear strong winds whipping around the tower. I was unable to play all of the 74 bells, and I decided that a good part of the upper octave and a half must be under renovation.

Unfortunately, the original carillon planners did not take into account that Wellington is a particularly windy city and that the 50-meter-tall memorial tower would be located on a hill. The tower is not close to the main part of the city, and I walked for more than half an hour to get there from downtown. The connecting street from the tower to the city never was built, and the plan to move underground the busy street in front of the tower was not approved. Chris Mclean writes in For Whom the Bells Toll, “The closure of the National Museum in 1996, in preparation for its transfer to a new site on the waterfront, exacerbated the locality’s decline and further isolated the shrine from the city.”

Later, after my noon recital, while walking in the area downtown that houses the government buildings and a city war memorial, I couldn’t help but think how nice it would be to have a four-octave, concert-pitch carillon in that area, in one of the open, grassy spaces. There likely would be less wind, and the area is a vibrant one with many people around during the day: city workers, Wellington residents, and tourists. Noon carillon recitals in that area might attract hundreds of listeners. The stately Art Deco tower on Mt. Cook is a fitting place for honoring the country’s war dead and for holding ceremonies at the Tomb of the Unknown Warrior. Its carillon, moved to a lively location, could still fulfill its intended role as a memorial while also giving pleasure to many more individuals.

I am very grateful to Timothy Hurd and to Tower Curator Paul Riley for their kindness. It was a special privilege to play the Wellington carillon. I regret that Tim Hurd was not in residence because I wanted to urge him in person to make some of his wonderful carillon compositions available.

Day Trip

Tuesday, June 15, will be devoted to travel. We will board buses in the morning and will spend most of the day at the University of Chicago’s Rockefeller Memorial Chapel, where attendees will have the opportunity to hear and try out the newly renovated 72-bell Gillett and Johnston carillon (second heaviest in the world), as well as the newly-renovated E. M. Skinner organ (the largest in Illinois). After that, we will travel scenic Lake Shore Drive northward to the Chicago Botanic Garden in Glencoe. There, we will tour 24 gardens spread over 385 acres, followed by a dinner on the shore of the Great Basin and a sunset carillon recital.

Optional Friday Event

On Friday, June 18, many Congress attendees may wish to visit the Sanfilippo Victorian Palace and its Place de la Musique, which features a carousel, an Orchestration Room, and a Music Room with a restored 8,000-pipe, 80-rank Wurlitzer organ. Details are available at http://www.placedelamusique.org/. Holiday Inn Select 1801 N. Naper Blvd.
Naperville, Illinois 60563

The Holiday Inn Select is the host hotel for GCNA 2010 Congress. This full-service hotel boasts 426 guest rooms and suites and is located minutes from downtown Naperville.

To reach the Holiday Inn Select from Chicago, take I-88 West to the Naperville Road exit. At the end of the exit ramp, turn left onto Freedom Drive. Go approximately 0.5 miles south to Diehl Road. Turn left and proceed approximately 0.3 miles east on Diehl Road to the hotel on your left.

The GCNA Congress rate is $89 for a Standard King or two Queen beds, $99 for a Concierge King, and $129 for King Suites (plus 10.4% tax). These reduced room rates also apply for THREE days immediately before and after the Congress dates, subject to availability, if you would like to extend your stay. These rates are available only until May 14.

Dates: June 13–18, 2010 (Sunday 3:00 p.m. through Friday noon)

To make reservations via the Internet, visit http://www.gcna.org/Congress2010.html and select dates for reservations. To view all rooms, select “No Preference” for room type. Use the group booking code "FGC" for these special group rates.

To make reservations by phone, call (630) 505-0550 and ask for the Guild of Carillonneurs 2010 Congress room block, code "gocegoca."

Travel

Please do not plan your arrival on Tuesday, June 15, unless you are willing to catch up to the rest of the participants with your own transportation. We will be having a travel day and therefore do not plan to have registration available on that day in Naperville. Also, note that the congress photo is scheduled for Monday at around 6:00 p.m.

A taxi ride to the hotels from either O’Hare or Midway runs about $50.

Transportation to/from the Hotels:

You will be responsible for travel to your chosen hotel in Naperville, but once here, we plan to have adequate shuttle service to get you to and from the two hotels to downtown Naperville—the location of the carillon, the presentations, dining, and shopping—which is a distance of about 5 miles. We will also provide buses for the travel day. Therefore you should not need to rent a car.

However, if you are planning to bring a car to the congress, and if you are willing to offer others rides during the congress and post-congress events, please be sure to indicate this on your registration form. This will allow us to plan more accurately for shuttle buses, as well as transportation to the Friday Place de la Musique event.

Questions about the Congress can be addressed to the Congress Host, Wylie Crawford, by e-mail at wylie@crawford.net or phone at (847) 328-5193.

Texas Regional Conference Held in San Antonio

Nine recitals in less than 24 hours were featured October 16 and 17, 2009, at the 17th Annual Texas Carillon Conference at Central Christian Church, San Antonio, Texas. The conference was dedicated to the memory of James Winston Smith, Carillonneur at Mercersburg Academy, Mercersburg, Pennsylvania, from 1981 to 2009.

Thirty-five registrants included 27 Texas residents, six from other states, and two from other countries. Notable was the pleasant weather that prevailed throughout the time for comfortable outside listening.

The co-hosts, resident carillonneur George Gregory and winter San Antonian Julianne Vanden Wyngaard, began the series of recitals with solo performances and several Ronald Barnes duets on the 48-bell Petit & Fritsen Nordan Memorial Carillon.

A program of guitar and lute music, arranged for carillon and played by Andrea McCrady (Ottawa, Ontario), was followed by an identical program played on guitar in the church sanctuary by guitarist Terry Muska, an associate professor in the Department of Music at San Antonio College. Copies of the arrangements were distributed to the registrants.

Other recitalists were John Acker (Dallas), Arla Jo Anderton-Gideon (Lubbock, Texas), Linda Dzuris (Clemson, S.C.), Milford Myhre (Lake Wales, Fla.), Gretchen Ryan (Dallas), Richard Strauss (Berkeley, Calif.), and Carol Anne Taylor (Dallas).

Predominant throughout the recitals was music composed by Ronald Barnes and Alice Gomez. Other noteworthy composers included Geoffrey Cook, John Courter, John J. H. Hammond, Geert D’Hollander, Roy Hamlin Johnson, Ulla Laage, Jacques Lannoy, and Sally Slade Warner.

Following a practice that began in 1993 in San Antonio, where the Texas regional meetings originated, with Andrea McCrady being made the first honorary Texan, two 2009 newcomers were initiated: Linda Dzuris and Ulla Laage. That makes a total of 28 honorary citizenships awarded by the Texas regional group during its 17 years of gatherings.

Additional activities during the conference were a Tex-Mex dinner served to the participants on two barges cruising the San Antonio River on Friday evening, a Saturday morning breakfast at the church, an afternoon early celebration of Milford Myhre’s birthday, and a night concert by the San Antonio Symphony Orchestra.

As a post-conference event, Ulla Laage of Copenhagen played a recital Sunday after the Central Christian Church service.
First Annual Percival Price Symposium in Ottawa

by Andrea McCrady

Seventeen registrants representing four countries attended the first annual Percival Price Symposium in Ottawa on October 3, 2009. Sponsored by the House of Commons of Canada, the event celebrated the magnificent 53-bell 1927 Gillett & Johnston carillon in the Peace Tower of the Houses of Parliament and acknowledged the legacy of performance, teaching, and campanology of Percival Price, the first Dominion Carillonneur (1927–39). The featured guest artist was William De Turk, the last student of Price at the University of Michigan, current carillonneur of the Bok Tower Gardens, past president of the GCNA, and longtime GCNA archivist. Participants gathered in the morning in the Commonwealth Room of the Centre Block of Parliament. At noon, Bill played a 30-minute recital that sampled the carillon music of Percival Price. Despite the fact that on Saturdays, Parliament is not in session, the carillon program was faced with some unexpected competition: a group of demonstrators on the Parliament lawn were celebrating the 60th anniversary of the People’s Republic of China with drums, gongs, and parading dragons! Bill later remarked that Price would have been amused by the combination of the music of such different cultures, especially given Price’s musical experiments at the University of Michigan and his campanological research trips around the world.

After a lunch break and a tour of the Parliament buildings, a dozen attendees squeezed into the Peace Tower carillon playing room. For an interactive hour, four carillon students played short pieces, while Bill offered helpful performance tips and answered questions from the observers.

Later that evening, on the University of Ottawa’s campus, Bill delivered a lecture discussing Price’s life and research. He recounted Price’s studies in Mechelen, Belgium, with Jef Denyn; the establishment of the GCNA in Ottawa in 1936; and Price’s subsequent career in Ann Arbor, Mich. The lively conversation during the post-lecture reception reflected the enthusiasm for the carillon and the new music acquaintances made during the day.

As reflected by its title, the Price Symposium has been established as an annual event, occurring on the first Saturday in October. (Price was born on October 7, 1901, and died October 1, 1985.). Three components will always be offered free of charge: a guest recital, a master class, and a lecture on carillon history. Registration information will be posted on the GCNA website and e-mail list. The next symposium will take place on October 2, 2010, when Milford Myhre will be the guest artist; it will focus on the work of Emilien Allard, Dominion Carillonneur, 1975–77. It’s a lovely time to visit Canada to enjoy the many attractions of Canada’s capital city, the colorful fall foliage display, and stimulating carillon camaraderie!

Centralia Summer Series 2010 to Include Workshop

by Carlo van Ulft

As in previous years, the Centralia Carillon will be hosting two Carillon Weekends as part of the Centralia Carillon Summer Series 2010.

The first carillon weekend will be on Saturday, June 19, and Sunday, June 20. This weekend immediately follows the GCNA Congress in Naperville, Ill. Recitals are scheduled on both days from 2:00 to 2:45 p.m. and 2:45 to 3:30 p.m.

Elizabeth Vitu (France) and Marc VanEyck (Belgium) are the guest performers on Saturday. Carol Jickling Lens (Colorado) and Carlo van Ulft (Illinois) are Sunday’s recitalists.

As part of the June Carillon Weekend, a workshop will be held on Saturday morning, between 9:30 a.m. and noon, on the topic “Playing Pop Music on the Carillon.” With few carillon arrangements of popular music available in print, due to copyright issues, it is often the task of the local carillonneur to interpret scores and arrange them for their instruments. This workshop will offer suggestions and guidelines on making suitable carillon arrangements of popular music. The workshop will be led by Carlo van Ulft.
The Carillon at UCSB Is 40 Years Old

by Margo Halsted

The view from the bell tower at the University of California, Santa Barbara (UCSB), is one of the most beautiful views from a bell tower in the world. The shoreline below has sandy beaches, a rocky promontory, sandstone cliffs, and several lagoons. Out in the ocean one can usually see a series of islands in the distance. When one turns away from the ocean, the view is of nearby and wonderful purple mountains. Down below, the handsome campus is spread out. Because the coastline runs east and west, it is possible to see from the tower a sunrise in the morning and often a particularly beautiful sunset in the evening.

The UCSB Bell Tower

The 61-bell carillon located in Storke Tower at UCSB reached a 40-year milestone on September 28, 2009. One day earlier, a special carillon recital performed by Margo Halsted marked the instrument’s anniversary. Cast by Petit & Fritsen and installed by Justin Kramer and Associates, the five octaves of bells are completely chromatic. The instrument is in concert pitch, and the bourdon weighs 4,793 lbs. The carillon, as well as the tower and student-publications buildings below, were the gifts of Thomas More Storke. Storke, in 1969 the owner of the Santa Barbara News-Press, was a Pulitzer Prize–winning journalist, a University of California Regent, and, for a brief time, an appointed United States Senator. To celebrate the anniversary, carillonneur Margo Halsted performed again the same music that was performed by Ennis Fruhauf at the 1969 dedication, plus a work by Fruhauf, and Fantasy for Carillon, the first performance of a commissioned piece by eminent composer Emma Lou Diemer, UCSB professor emerita of composition.

The program was as follows:

The University of California Hymn (“St. Anne”) by William Croft, arr. Fruhauf; Sonata for a Musical Clock by G.F. Handel, arr. Price; Gavotte by Willem de Fesch and Andante (#86) from the De Gruyters Carillon Book (Antwerp 1746); Preludio Cou Cou by Matthias Van den Gheyen; “Lullaby and Prayer” from Five Short Pieces for Carillon by Leen ‘t Hart; and Allegro Moderato (originally Piece Without Expression No. 1) by Percival Price. An addition to the program was Ennis Fruhauf’s 1994 composition Reflections on Let There Be Light. The program finale, the premiere of Diemer’s Fantasy, was very much enjoyed by the listeners. It is a thrilling and exciting work with some very dramatic effects, such as large chord clusters and accelerating octatonic scale runs. The piece will be published by ACME, and Margo Halsted will perform it at the Naperville congress.

Halsted has been in charge of the UCSB carillon since 2008. She is an adjunct professor in the Department of Music. During the school year 1998–99, while on sabbatical leave from the University of Michigan School of Music, she was a Visiting Scholar at UCSB and, at that time, oversaw a renovation of the carillon. Besides Ennis Fruhauf, others who played and cared for the carillon through the years were James Welch, Ann Jefferson, and Anne Rothfarb. Carillon may be taken for credit at UCSB, and currently there are four students studying there.

News from Albany

by Amy Heebner

On September 8, 2009, Willem-Alexander, Crown Prince of Orange, and Princess Maxima visited Albany, N.Y. New York was celebrating the 400th anniversary of Henry Hudson’s voyage up the Hudson River. The Dutch royal family visited New York Governor David Paterson, Albany Mayor Jerry Jennings, the New York State Library, and the New York State Museum’s 1609 exhibit. Amy Heebner performed on the carillon while the couple was visiting Albany’s City Hall.

On October 13, about 30 organists and organ enthusiasts from Germany, led by Hans Hielscher, carillonneur in Wiesbaden, visited the Albany carillon for a brief concert by Amy Heebner.

Television Interviews Matthew

by George Matthew, Jr.

On October 8, George Matthew, Jr., was interviewed by Steve Farnham, a local independent TV producer, on the subject of carillons. Also on the program with us was Ben Koenig, the owner of the Country Bookstore of Fairfield, Vermont. As you... probably know, this store has one of the largest collection of books on carillons and bells in the USA. The program included footage of me playing the Norwich University carillon and some beautiful shots of the campus. It was aired on four dates on Vermont Public Television.

In Living Color

by Carmelita Rivera

The playing of the carillon is fascinating to watch. Carillonneurs play high in the bell tower, often leaving audience members guessing how this beautiful music is produced. With the increased demand for state-of-the-art visual technology along with innovative methods of marketing each summer’s carillon concert series, it was inevitable that someone would come up with the idea of the high-definition, flat-screen monitor. That’s exactly what the concert-goer discovered at the 2009 summer concert series at Rockefeller Chapel in Chicago.

Picnickers, music aficionados, family members, and friends were astounded to find they could actually view their favorite carillonneur up close and personal on a high-definition screen while enjoying musical selections being performed hundreds of feet above ground level. Many viewers watched, spellbound, the unique process in which the bell music was meticulously provided. Some fans expressed appreciation of the effort made by the featured carillonneur to offer such expressive and energetic performances.

This 42-inch, high-tech tool, in the style of screens usually found at mega sporting events or indoor/outdoor rock concerts, warrants a repeat performance for Rockefeller’s 2010 summer series. It enables the physically challenged listener to fully enjoy the concert, as well as parents with small children who wouldn’t be able to make the climb to the tower. Of course, there are those who prefer to listen the old-fashioned way, with closed eyes and listening ears while they stretch out in their favorite lawn chair. Whatever the case, it’s the best of both worlds of the carillon.

Symposium Carillon 500 in Asten, the Netherlands

by Rainer Schütte

To celebrate 500 years since the invention of the carillon, 1510–2010, the committee 500 Years of Carillon and Natuurmuseum Asten have the pleasure of inviting you to the anniversary symposium on the weekend of November 6–7, 2010.

Eight lectures will examine the historical and cultural place of the carillon in today’s community. On Saturday, November 6, Heleen van der Weel, Frank Deleu, Koen Cosaert, and Luc Rombouts will give an overview of the history of this instrument. On Sunday, November 7, a guided tour through the National Carillon Collection will be followed by lectures from Jacques Maassen, Carl van Eyndhoven, Serge Joris, and Rainer Schütte. Inscriptions are possible via e-mail to info@mu-seumasten.nl. For details, please visit http://www.carillon500.eu.

Events in Bruges

by Frank Deleu

The famous Dumery carillon in Bruges is in restoration. The 26 historic Dumery bells (1742–48) will be cleaned and 21 non-historic bells will be retuned by Royal Eijsbouts to a pitch that is closer to the original. The carillon will also receive a new keyboard and a new installation of all cables, and its huge, historic drum (1748; 9 tons, 30,500 holes) is in restoration. The restoration (done by Clock-o-Matic) can be followed at http://www.carillon-brugge.be/.

The inaugural concert, and the start of the summer series, will take place on June 12. During the season, some big events will be held to commemorate the 500th anniversary of the carillon’s invention.

July 17: Jazz on the mobile carillon in the Astrid Park.

September 25: the inauguration of an artistic installation, the Soundscape of Bruges, with the sounds of bells in the historical center of Bruges.

October 9, the final weekend of the series: In the first “Musical Dictation of Bruges,” classical music dictations will be played, one for children and one for adults. Participants can join the competition and win prizes in a traffic-free marketplace. On the same day in Bruges, the yearly meeting of the VBV, as well as a new international composition competition (“Algemeen Nederlands Verbond,” from the Netherlands and Belgium), will be held. The first prize will be 10,000 euros.

October 10: Concert with Bruges choirs and a big “cacophony” on the carillon—all inhabitants of Bruges are invited to play the carillon in the tower!

More information on this summer series will be announced on the website listed above.

Le Bulletin Campanaire of the Association Campanaire Wallonne (ACW) #60—Fourth Quarter 2009

[Translator’s reminder: This periodical covers the three areas of interest to the ACW—bells in general, carillons, and tower clocks. My summaries generally reflect only those articles that concern carillons.]
Cantor Bell

Emmanuel Delsaute reports on the four-year restoration of the carillon of Gembloux. By Christmas of 2005, the four largest bells had been restored to the point that they could be again swung electrically. A few months later, a short circuit caused the populace to hear 50 minutes of ringing, until the problem was resolved. Then, an Apollo II control system was used to replace the former drum, to provide reliable and more varied automatic play. Several new tunes were added to the repertoire, an act that was well received by the residents of Gembloux. The clock and other mechanical connections were renovated, along with the aging manual keyboard, so that in 2009, the manual instrument was again playable for all 47 bells, thanks to the addition of a number of springs and adjustable cranks. An afternoon inaugural concert was given by Audrey Dye on September 26.

A discussion of the social security tax regulations and their applicability to contracted carillonneurs and occasional performers is provided by Serge Joris.

Gossip: We are reminded of the Y2K 2000 panic, now a decade old, during which people wondered if bells would strike on New Year’s Eve. Fears were unfounded, however. John the Baptist at the Grand Beguinage. Joost Dupon

Klok & Klepel 108, September 2009

This issue takes a close look at the trend toward “Beiaard+,” where the carillon is paired with other instruments and integrated in happenings rather than being played by itself. Two opinion articles, one by Arie Abbenes and Dick van Dijck and another by Foeke de Wolf, look at several aspects of the phenomenon and their implications for carillon culture.

In a featured historical article, Heleen van der Weel examines how bell founder Hemony established and expanded his trade in Germany and ended up casting bells for the distant city of Darmstadt. Another article takes a look at the life of enigmatic 17th-century Amsterdam carillonneur Servaes Nouts.

Rosemarie Seuntiëns succeeded Arie Abbenes as carillonneur in both Asten and Eindhoven. Bauke Reitsma became the carillonneur in Baarn. Breda’s city carillonneur, Jacques Maassen, was given a knighthood in the Order of Orange-Nassau.

The “Bells Chronicle” pays attention to the visit of carillon students from Yale University to the carillons of Amsterdam. Leuven has a new carillon in the church of Saint John the Baptist at the Grand Beguinage. Jan Bezuijen writes a column on the International Carillon Festival in Springfield.

Klok & Klepel 109, December 2009

Bauke Reitsma spent some time with the bell ringers at the Utrecht Bell Ringers Guild and reports on her experiences. Hylke Banning examines the glass carillon at Leidsche Rijn, just outside Utrecht. The “singing tower,” a design by Bernard Heesen, is both a work of art and a remarkable musical instrument. Eijsbouts created the glass bells, which can be played by means of a carillon clavier but also sound when they are hit by raindrops. To avoid the clutter of wires and traction in the glass tower, the keyboard is connected to the clappers electronically. More info can be found at http://www.dezingendetoren.nl.

Jacques Maassen looks back on the carillon oeuvre of 20th-century Dutch composer and arranger Daan Manneke. Bauke Reitsma attended a seminar on the composer and reports on that.

News from the German-Speaking Guild

translated and summarized by Lisa Lonie

From the Deutsche Glockenspielvereinigung (DGV), December 2009

Manfred Hahn, of Kassel, received the Philipp Nicolai Medal in recognition of 50 years of dedicated service to the carillon of the Karls Church in Kassel. Similarly, Lothar Fueldner was recognized recently for his work as carillonneur in Gera.

The examination policy of the DGV for achieving the title Certified Carillonneur of the German Carillon Guild was included in the December ’09 newsletter. Some highlights are translated below. For full details, please see http://www.glockenspielvereinigung.de.

Qualification: Minimum of 2 years active membership in the German Guild and 18 years of age.

The examination includes:
• a selection of four works from the examinee’s repertoire list, the list to include a minimum of 20 pieces (15 original carillon works; five arrangements) representing the Baroque, Romantic, and Modern periods.
• an arrangement and performance of a designated work for three-octave carillon as chosen by the examinee.
• performance of an arrangement by the examiner’s repertoire list, the list to include a minimum of 20 pieces (15 original carillon works; five arrangements) representing the Baroque, Romantic, and Modern periods.

The composition must be for solo carillon.

New in 2010 will be the opportunity for voting members to thoroughly prepare themselves in advance to critically listen to the congress performances by our students.

In advance of the congress, an e-mail will be sent listing all of the repertoire to be performed for the 2010 exam. This listing will also be published on the GCNA website. We hope that congress attendees will take advantage of knowing this information in advance and come to the congress with a better-than-average knowledge of the pieces to be performed. Please take the time to refamiliarize yourself with the pieces or challenge yourself to learn them. Bring your copies to the congress for reference, or buy the scores when you arrive.

Please remember that the required pieces are very strategic to the success of the student performances. The required pieces for 2010, purchase information, and the judge’s adjudication form can be found online at http://www.gcna.org.

Composition Contest for Carillon Organized by the Algemeen-Nederlands Verbond

As executor of the estate of Mr. H. L. A. Visser, the Algemeen-Nederlands Verbond organizes a composition contest for carillon solo. The prize is 10,000 euros and performance of the work. The winning piece will be published jointly by the NKV and VBV.

Performance of the piece is part of the celebrations commemorating the 500th anniversary of the carillon in the Low Countries and will take place on October 9, 2010, in Bruges, Belgium.

The jury is composed of Arie Abbenes, Frédéric Devreese, Daan Manneke, Carl Van Eyndhoven, and Andries Clement (as non-voting president).

• The contest is open to all composers. Information about composition can be found at http://www.beiaard.nl/componeren.html.
• The composition should relate to the theme of the cinquecentenary of the carillon.
• The composition must be new and written especially for the contest.
• The composition should be between 7 and 10 minutes long (length to be stated on the score).
• The composition must be playable on a carillon of four octaves: Bes–c–d–c4 (49 bells). An alternative arrangement may be submitted in advance to the jury for the examinee of variations on a theme, with the arrangement submitted in advance to the jury.
• a live improvisation on a theme submitted by the jury to the examinee one hour before the exam.
• a presentation of a 45-minute seminar on campanology, carillon history, and carillon literature.
• submission of a written report, minimum ten pages, on campanology or carillons.

Examinees have two years to complete the exam. If an examinee fails, he/she must wait 12 months before reapplying. If the examinee fails a second time, the candidate may not reapply.

Also noted in the article was an adjudication point system.

• The composition composition should be anonymous, and the score should not contain elements that could lead to identification of the composer.
• The score should be entered in duplicate in a digitized version.
• The score should bear a motto or identifying inscription and be accompanied by a closed envelope.
• Submissions remain the possession of the ANV.
• The jury may choose not to award the prize if no piece is considered to be of the required quality.
• Submissions remain the possession of the ANV.
• By submitting a piece, contestants agree to these rules and regulations.

Send submissions to: Algemeen-Nederlands Verbond Postbus 501 2280 AM Rijswijk ZH The Netherlands

Denver Appointment Announced

Carol Jickling Lens has been newly appointed University Carillonneur for the University of Denver, effective January 4, 2010. She joined the carillon faculty at the University’s Lamont School of Music in December 2009. The 11th Annual DU Holiday Carillon Concert on Sunday, December 13, 2009, marked her first concert as Lamont faculty.

Carol began her carillon study with Beverly Buchanan at Christ Church Cranbrook in Bloomfield Hills, Mich., in 1966. In 1971, she continued her studies at the University of Michigan with Hudson Ladd. From 1972 to 1974, Carol attended the Netherlands Carillon School in Amersfoort, where she studied with Leen't Hart and received both the Practical and End Diplomas. While in the Netherlands, she played many recitals, including a series of four at the Palace in Amsterdam. Upon returning to the United States, she continued her studies at the University of Michigan.

Previous appointments include carillonneur at St. John the Divine Episcopal Church in Houston, Texas, and carillonneur at the Bell Tower Center Carillon there. While living in England, Carol learned the art of English change ringing and played recitals at the Loughborough Memorial Carillon and regularly on the Old Bond Street Carillon, including a recital where Princess Margaret dedicated a plaque.

Her recitals throughout the United States have taken her to Princeton University, the University of Chicago, and the University of Michigan. In addition to recitals in the Netherlands and England, Carol has played in St. Petersburg, Russia; and Seoul, South Korea.

A member of the GCNA since 1971, Carol has served on the Board of Directors, as chairperson of the Examination Committee, and currently sits on the Exam Ad Hoc Committee. She has been invited to play two GCNA congress recitals. Carol has also been a piano teacher on three continents for more than 30 years.

David Maker Appointed Carillonneur-in-Residence

by Patricia Snyder and Theodore Thomas Yungclas

Storrs Congregational Church is pleased to announce the appointment of David Maker as Carillonneur-in-Residence, presiding over the Austin Dunham Memorial Carillon. For fifteen years, Mr. Maker has been a joyous advocate of the bells at Storrs, playing weekday concerts, teaching, and performing for many special occasions. The church is honored to acknowledge his continued commitment and enthusiasm with this official appointment.

David struck his first-ever baton at the clavier of the Dunham Carillon in 1994, responding to a request to inspect the instrument. Subsequently he undertook carillon studies at Trinity College under Daniel Kehoe, starting in 1995. He played his GCNA advancement recital in 1999. David has performed extensively in the eastern United States, the Netherlands, and Portugal. Paul Revere, Bell-founder is the most recent of his compositions published by ACME. His “adapted change ringing” for carillon has generated much interest here and abroad. From 2007 to 2009, David was interim carillonneur of Trinity College. His appointment at Storrs Congregational Church returns him to his carillon roots.

The Carillon

On April 17, 2009, the Building and Grounds Committee at the University of Connecticut unanimously approved the expenditure of internal source funds not to exceed $125,000 for the restoration/renovation of the Austin Dunham Memorial Carillon housed in the steeple of the Storrs Congregational Church on the University of Connecticut campus. With this restoration/renovation, five new bells will be cast and installed in the instrument, extending its range to a full three octaves. The fabrication of the new bells and the restoration/renovation work will be completed by Meeks, Watson & Co., of Georgetown, Ohio.
In Memoriam

John Wright Harvey
1919-2009

by John Krueger

Organ—my hobby, my work, my play, my vocation, my recreation. Recital work a specialty.” So wrote Professor John Wright Harvey on a faculty information sheet dated October 26, 1961. He went on to list “Carillon—(and bells of all sorts)—a lifelong interest.” These dual interests defined John’s 24 years as professor of music at the University of Wisconsin–Madison, a career that began in September 1960 and ended with his retirement in June 1984.

In 1962 the UW Memorial Carillon received 27 new bells and two claviers, enlarging it to a total of 51 bells. On February 2–4, 1970, John gave three identical recitals initiating the Austin Organ Company’s Opus 2498 in the University’s Eastman Recital Hall.

John taught organ and carillon to students from freshmen to doctoral candidates. Announcements of his carillon recitals appeared regularly and often.

John was born in Marion, Ind., on June 15, 1919. He began piano study at age 8, trombone at age 14, and organ at 15. He completed a Bachelor of Music degree in organ from Oberlin Conservatory in 1941. The degree was awarded in absentia since John was by then stationed aboard a destroyer participating in the Battle of Midway. While in the Navy, John served as a musician, a signalman, and a quartermaster. He survived the loss of the USS Atlanta, sunk off Guadalcanal in November 1942.

After the war, John received a bachelor’s degree in music education from Oberlin in 1946 and a master’s degree from the School of Sacred Music at Union Theological Seminary in 1952. His master’s thesis was on the history and development of the organ in the chapel at West Point.

Before coming to Madison, he served the First Presbyterian Church in Englewood, N.J.; Webb Horton Memorial Presbyterian Church in Middletown, N.Y.; Central Union Church in Honolulu; and National City Christian Church in Washington, D.C.

Beginning in 1947, John was active in the American Guild of Organists. In 1952, he organized the Northern Valley Chapter in Englewood, Calif., serving as dean for its first three years and as scholarship chairman for two years. In 1958, he was secretary of the Washington, D.C., chapter. In Madison, John was dean of the AGO chapter there from 1964 to 1966. In 1953–56, John contributed to the American Organist, including a three-issue story on the West Point organ. In Madison and beyond the university, John was active as well.

He was organist at First Congregational Church. He also served as organ consultant and advisor to many congregations, including St. John’s Lutheran, Luther Memorial, Bethany Methodist, and Mt. Olive Lutheran. He was particularly involved with the design of the Austin organ at First United Methodist.

John gave recitals statewide, in venues large and small, including several on the Casavant organ at St. Norbert’s Abbey in DePere, Wis.

John Harvey’s interests extended well beyond music. Pictures of Clarissa, his 1932 Chevy roadster, appeared in the newspaper, as did pictures of his model railroad. He also collected disc recordings from the early 1900s.

Survivors include his wife, Jean; his daughters; and a brother. A memorial service was held at Cress Funeral Home, 6021 University Avenue, on January 5, 2010. A number of former students and church musicians attended.

Sally Slade Warner
1932-2009

by Mary Kennedy

One Saturday morning in 1974, Earl Chamberlain, organist and carillonneur here at St. Stephen’s Church in Cohasset, Mass., introduced a new student to us, his small class of amateurs. We were an amiable group, learning much from Earl’s gentle critiques, enjoying his impish sense of humor, grateful that his teaching style was “Relax. Have fun. Enjoy.” Sally Slade Warner said that she, too, was interested in “ringing dem bells.” We welcomed Sally—she was easygoing and, we saw right away, dedicated. It seemed only a few lessons later when we began to realize that one of us was no longer an amateur. We had always encouraged each other, but when Sally played, we applauded.

There is no argument that Sally had a large presence, certainly no argument that she had a far, far bigger heart, a heart that embraced with great joy all of her friends—and their number was legion. And for that, as she often said, she was immensely grateful.

This was a woman with a formidable musical talent and a fondness for humorous wordplay: limericks, spoonerisms, malapropisms, anagrams, palindromes, and all manner of wonderfully silly ditties. With great skill and reverence she would execute a flawless program of “serious” music from Bach to Barnes. And with equal flair and whimsy, she might create an arrangement of “Rubber Duckie” and play it with gusto.
Sally could not abide pomposity of any kind, nor tolerate cruel gossip or unkindness or inaccuracy, whether in notes or words. But (and this was rarely) when she made up her mind to disapprove—of telemarketers, for example—she could be downright withering. I’m thinking especially about her telephone answering message, delivered in a pleasant tone: “Hello, you’ve reached the home of Salicus. Telemarketers, hang up now and cross my name off your list. You’ll NEVER reach me. Friends, I’ll pick up as soon as I hear your voice.”

She will be dearly missed and long remembered. Like her first carillon teacher—whom she always addressed as Mr. Chamberlain, so great was her admiration for his talent and genius—her life was all about music, “a mighty song.”

Andrea McCrady compiled many of the touching sentiments and memories sent to her in the week before and after Sally’s death into a beautiful article about Sally. Since it was too long to be included in an issue of Carillon News, it will be preserved as an article on the GCNA website.

The Bells of Heavenly Firmament

In memoriam, Sally Slade Warner 1932-2009

Now, let us sing glorious
And, let us sing delirious
Throughout the firmament of heaven
Let peal angelic bells
Sounding
All across Elysian Plains

So that the great and mighty spirits
The angels and archangels, all take pause, dawdle,
stop, they stop and listen to the magic of the bells

now, sing a heavenly response all along cloud corridors bells sound and resound, echo upon echo

throughout ever expanding spheres of heaven’s own vaults

in the diminutive meantime the photographer, with the alchemy of light wet on his plate measures the moonbeams with his moon meter

measuring each striker
each turnbuckle
each and every part of the mechanism

in order to get the best composition

& misses seeing the carillonneur transcend and ascend

so, go now, my friend, knowing that you will be missed go now and learn the tongue of angels and play for us upon the bells in the firmament of heaven
